

I CLAIM:

1. A palm-size game case with combined functions as a handle, storage and protection with the handle and the storage retractable and provided with locking and rail devices for a main unit of the
5 palm-size game is comprised of an upper lid and a lower lid with the main unit of the game sandwiched in between; two buckling holes being respectively provided on both sides in the front and the rear ends of the main unit; two locking catches being provided on both sides on the front and rear ends of the lower lid to engage their
10 respective buckling holes on the main unit; a rail being each provided on both sides of the lower lid and a corresponding track being each provided on both sides of the upper lid; the upper lid being engaged to where below the lower lid by sliding both tracks into their respective rails; and the lower lid being retractable from the upper lid
15 to define a handle for easy holding the main unit.
2. A palm-size game case as claimed in Claim 1, wherein, the upper lid inserted under the lower lid by sliding both tracks into their respective rails defines a drawer type of storage tray to accommodate game cartridges or other accessories.
- 20 3. A palm-size game case as claimed in Claim 1, wherein, both of the upper lid is locked to the top of the main unit and the lower lid is locked to the base of the main unit by engaging those locking catches to their respective buckling holes provided on the main unit to form a case containing and protection the main unit of the palm-size game for easy portability.